Second wave 120,000 virus deaths fears

THE UK could see about 120,000 new coronavirus deaths in a second wave of infections this winter, scientists say.

Asked to model a "reasonable" worst-case scenario, they suggest a range between 24,500 and 251,000 of virus-related deaths in hospitals alone, peaking in January and February.

To date, there have been 44,830 official deaths in the UK.

The estimate does not take into account lockdowns, treatments or vaccines.

And the scientists say: "The risk... could be reduced if we take action immediately".

The report, requested by the UK's chief scientific adviser Sir Patrick Vallance (above), stresses there is still a high degree of uncertainty over how the pandemic will play out this winter.

But research suggests the virus can survive longer in colder conditions and is more likely to spread when people spend more time indoors.

Fewer lives now being lost

THE number of weekly registered deaths involving coronavirus has fallen to the lowest level since lockdown was first introduced, figures show.

According to new data from the Office for National Statistics (ONS), the number of deaths registered in England and Wales involving Covid-19 in the week ending July 3 was 532.

It is the lowest number of deaths linked to the virus in the last 15 weeks, the ONS said.

YANKS GET GREEN LIGHT FOR FEDERAL EXECUTIONS

US murderer Daniel Lewis Lee has been put to death, hours after the Supreme Court allowed the first executions of federal inmates in 17 years.

Several executions were initially delayed when a judge ruled on Monday that there were still unresolved legal challenges.

Condemned prisoners argued that lethal injections constitute "cruel and unusual punishments".

But the Supreme Court voted 5-4 that "executions may proceed as planned".

Last year, Donald Trump's administration said it would resume federal executions.

Some of the relatives of Lee's victims opposed his execution in Indiana and had sought to have it delayed, arguing that attending it could expose them to coronavirus.

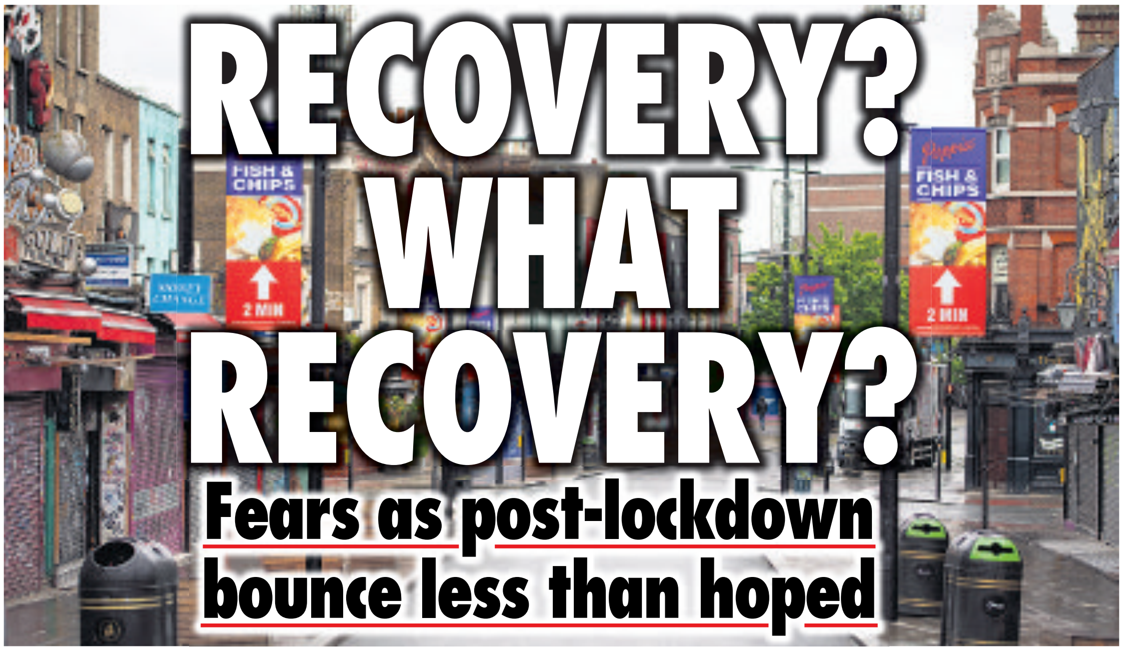
Earlene Peterson, 81, whose daughter, granddaughter and son-in-law were killed by Lee, said she wanted the 47-year-old to be given life in jail, the same sentence as his accomplice.

The Trump administration's move has been criticised as a political decision, with campaigners expressing concern about cases being rushed.

Lee (left) was convicted of torturing and killing a family in Arkansas in 1996, dumping their bodies in a lake.

Postponed from December, his execution had been rescheduled for July 13 but was blocked by a ruling from District Judge Tanya Chutkan.

The previous inmate executed by federal death penalty was Louis Jones Jr, a 53-year-old Gulf War veteran who murdered 19-year-old soldier Tracie Joy McBride.



RECOVERY? WHAT RECOVERY?

Fears as post-lockdown bounce less than hoped

THE UK economy might not recover from the coronavirus crisis until 2024, the fiscal watchdog has warned.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) said the "UK is on track to record the largest decline in annual GDP for 300 years", warning that the economy could shrink by as much as 14.3 per cent in 2020.

In its latest set of financial forecasts, it said a worst-case scenario would also not see GDP recover to pre-crisis levels until the third quarter of 2024.

Government measures to address the impact of the virus will also result in an "unprecedented peacetime rise in borrowing" this year, to between 13% and 21% of GDP, with the OBR currently predicting borrowing of £322billion.

UK GDP is set to fall by 10.6% in even its most optimistic projection, the OBR said.

However, this scenario also projects that GDP could recover to its pre-virus peak by the first quarter of next year.

In its middling scenario, the OBR suggests GDP could fall by 12.4%, before returning to its pre-virus level by the end of 2022, with "elevated" levels of unemployment and business failures.

Despite a recovery in output starting in May, the OBR said it assumes that GDP for June will be "20% below its level in February".

The regulator said it therefore expects that GDP will have fallen 21% in the second quarter of the year, following a 2% fall estimated by the Office for National Statistics (ONS) for the first three months of 2020.

In its April scenario, the OBR pencilled in a 35% plunge in GDP for the three months to June, before a relatively quick rebound in activity.

Earlier yesterday, the ONS said that UK GDP grew by 1.8% in May following the easing of the lockdown but remained a quarter below its pre-pandemic levels.

This figure was also far short of the 5% rise predicted by a consensus of economists.

The OBR report also said that Government policy interventions announced before June 26 raised its borrowing projections by around £142bn for the financial year, in its middling scenario.

Measures introduced in the Chancellor's summer statement last week could add a further £50bn to borrowing for the year, it added.

James Smith, research director at the Resolution Foundation, said: "The risk of 1.3 million furloughed workers moving straight into unemployment should prompt the Chancellor to consider further action on jobs."

Rescue deal for Branson's Virgin Atlantic

TROUBLED airline Virgin Atlantic has finalised a rescue deal worth £1.2billion.

The package includes support from its main shareholder, Sir Richard Branson's (above) Virgin Group, and loans from outside investors.

It also includes deferring hundreds of millions of pounds owed both to Virgin Group and to fellow shareholder Delta Air Lines.

Virgin Atlantic had initially hoped to obtain emergency funding from the government, but ministers said any subsidies would be a last resort.

The funding comes largely from existing shareholders and a new investor, hedge fund Davidson Kempner Capital Management.

The company said the plan paved the way for the airline to rebuild its balance sheet and return to profitability in 2022.

The coronavirus outbreak plunged Virgin Atlantic into an acute crisis.

Iran executes CIA info 'traitor'

IRAN has announced it has executed a former defence ministry employee convicted of selling information to the US.

The execution of Reza Asgari took place last week, according to judiciary spokesman Gholamhossein Esmaili.

Mr Esmaili said that Asgari had passed on details about Iran's missile programme to the Central Intelligence Agency after retiring from the defence ministry's aerospace division in 2016.

China fury as Boris U-turns on telecoms giant

HUAWEI

WEI OUT: PM Boris Johnson

BRITAIN is braced for cyber WAR with China after it was announced Chinese tech giant Huawei's equipment will be stripped from the UK's 5G network by 2027.

The National Security Council took the decision after the impact of US sanctions raised concerns about Huawei's continued involvement in the UK's 5G infrastructure.

Cyber warriors were immediately out on high alert to guard against a full-scale electronic attack on the UK by China.

From next year, telecoms firms will be banned from purchasing new 5G equipment from Huawei.

They will also be ordered to shift away from buying Huawei's equipment for full-fibre broadband networks over a period lasting up to two years.

The decisions were taken at a meeting of the National Security Council, chaired by Prime Minister Boris Johnson.

It followed an assessment of the impact of US sanctions by experts from the National Cyber Security Centre.

In January, before the tough restrictions imposed by US President Donald Trump's administration, Huawei had been allowed to play a limited role in the 5G network despite concerns that it was a "high-risk" vendor because of its links to the Chinese government.

Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden acknowledged that the moves could delay the rollout of 5G by two to three years and potentially add £2billion to the overall cost.

Mr Dowden insisted that the changes would mean that, by the time of the next general election – expected in 2024 – the UK would be on an "irreversible path" to a network free from the firm.

Arthur2shedsjackson, Hampstead, United Kingdom

Looks like someone's elbow or scr otum.

BRAVE Ulrika Jonsson took the bold step of posting an unfiltered snap on Instagram – and received a load of BALLBAG and BUKKAKE abuse in return.

The star, 52, shared an unusual selfie from the shower after deciding to finally wash her hair after leaving it for just over a week.

She said: 'The sun came back!! So I washed my hair for the first time in 8 days. (God, I hate washing my hair. It's so fecking boooooooring).'

Ulrika continued: 'Ignored Govt advice and opened my own beauty salon early in my very own bathroom and executed a gorgeous pedicure.

'No point in manis cos I'm a manual labourer.

Ravaged

'Trying to get my head around the family abandoning me on Monday for a week away. Maybe that's why I ended up with 3 Bulldogs in my bedroom last night, rationing myself on I May Destroy You because it's so damn fine.'

Ulrika delighted most of her followers with the challenging post.

One fan commented: 'Totally LOVE your beautiful an honest posts, your a breath of fresh air.'

But more cruel trolls suggested that Ulrika's famous looks have been ravaged by the sun.

Arthur2shedsjackson sniped: "She looks like Arthur Askey's scrotum.'

Arthur Askey was a comedian and actor who DIED in 1982.

Another reckoned the Shooting Stars beauty looked like the target at a spunk-dripping bukkake party, writing: 'Looks like she has been with a load of men and it's all in her hair.'

Last night a pal of Ulrika said: "Good for the complexion, spunk.

'White supremacy' Wayne axe

A SNOWFLAKE film school is cancelling its John Wayne exhibit because the legendary actor, who died in 1979, once said "I believe in white supremacy".

Wayne attended USC in the 1920s.

‘Catastrophic’ decline in rape prosecutions

RAPE is effectively being decriminalised due to a “catastrophic decline in prosecutions”, the Victims Commissioner has said.

Dame Vera Baird (above) said the fall in numbers was allowing “persistent predatory sex offenders” to reoffend, adding that “no measures have been put in place to address it”.

Her first annual report said the fall in convictions coincided with prosecutors reportedly being told to adopt a “touch on the tiller” against prosecuting “weak” cases to boost conviction rates.

The report said the number of cases has “collapsed” from 3,671 in the year ending March 2017 to 1,758 in the year to March 2019.

She wrote: “If the CPS (Crown Prosecution Service) is unwilling or unable to deal with this failure effectively to prosecute rape, then the government must act.

“The current situation cannot be allowed to continue.”

Judge rules ‘no DSS’ rental bans ‘unlawful’

A JUDGE has ruled that blanket bans on renting properties to people on housing benefit are unlawful and discriminatory.

The “momentous” court ruling found a single mother-of-two had experienced indirect discrimination when a letting agent refused to rent to her.

She ended up homeless with her two children, when her case was taken on by housing charity Shelter.

The judge ruled “No DSS” rental bans are against equality laws.

District Judge Victoria Mark heard the case in York County Court and ruled: “Rejecting tenancy applications because the applicant is in receipt of housing benefit was unlawfully discriminating on the grounds of sex and disability.”

PERV SPUNKED ON WOMAN IN LAUNDRETTE

TOSSER: Ibarra

A MAN who was arrested after exposing himself and masturbating in front of a woman is also suspected of ejaculating on another woman inside a laundrette earlier the same day.

Cops responded to complaints at around 3.30pm on Monday by descending on the Coin Laundry in Covina, California.

A 20-year-old woman said a man was masturbating but then appeared behind her and ejaculated on her leg and clothing.

The suspect, Jose Luis Ibarra, was taken into custody later that day for a separate incident that occurred about 8pm.

Ibarra, driving a white Ford Ranger pickup truck, allegedly followed a woman, exposed himself to her and masturbated, according to police.

Police responded to the scene and searched for the suspect.

They found Ibarra nearby and arrested him.

Criminal charges of indecent exposure and battery will be sought, according to Covina police.

Ibarra, 23, was released from custody on Monday evening.

He is expected to appear in court at a later date.

The woman fell ill and died the same day after buying the bottle of sex stimulant XL Gold from Party Time off licence in Arbroath, Angus, police reports state.

XL Gold contains isopropyl nitrate, an ingredient found in "poppers" – a liquid drug which gives an instant high when inhaled.

It is sold legally, but the £3.99 bottle is marketed as a room odouriser, cleaning product and sexual enhancement liquid – and marked as "not for human consumption".

Police say the woman died after drinking a full bottle of the substance.

COURT HEARS OF JOHNNY DEPP'S ANGUISHED TEXT TO PERSONAL DOC

'The demeaning, belittling, most heartbreaking spew that is only released from a malicious, evil and vindictive ct!!!!!'

WAVE OF PROTEST: Depp at High Court

'SO F*ING AMBITIOUS': How Depp described Amber Heard

JOHNNY Depp branded Amber Heard a "ct" who is "as full of shit as a Christmas goose" in a string of foul-mouthed texts after a row, a court heard.

Depp has brought a libel case against News Group Newspapers for a 2018 article in The Sun which branded him a "wife beater" – a claim he vehemently denies.

The High Court heard the Pirates of the Caribbean star slammed his then-wife Amber in a furious stream of messages to his personal medic, Dr David Kipper.

Depp got in touch with his doctor after he suffered a severed finger during a heated row with Amber at the house they were renting in Australia in March 2015.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The court heard the actor called his wife a "malicious, evil and vindictive ct" who was "so desperate for success and fame" in the scathing texts.

The texts read: "I cut the top of my middle finger off… Fing, man… Had another one… I just cannot live like this… She is as full of shit as a Christmas Goose!!! I'm done. NO MORE…!!!

"The constant insults, the demeaning, belittling, most heartbreaking spew that is only released from a malicious, evil and vindictive ct!!!!! But, you know what… ?? FAR MORE hurtful than her venomous and degrading, endless "educational" ranting…???

"Is her hideously and purposely hurtful tirades and her goddam shocking treatment of the man she was meant to love, above all…"

The texts continued: "Here's the real deal, mate… Her obsession with herself..?? Is far more important… She is SO FKING AMBITIOUS!!! She's so desperate for success and fame… That's probably why I was acquired, mate…!!

Panicking

"Although, she has hammered me with what a sad old man, has been I am… I'm so very sad…

"I cut the top of my middle finger off… What should I do!?? Except, of course, go to a hospital… I'm so embarrassed for jumping into anything with her."

Depp's bodyguard, Malcolm Connolly, told the court the Hollywood star was 'in emotional distress and panicking' after his finger was severed.

The incident is one of 14 allegations of violent behaviour Heard has made against her former husband which are at the centre of his libel claim.

Mr Connolly said in a witness statement that Depp told him: 'Look at my finger. She's cut my fing finger off. She's smashed my hand with a vodka bottle.'

The bodyguard said the actor also told him Heard had put a cigarette out on his face, and he saw a mark.

Mr Connolly's statement also said: "I had seen her lob a fork in Johnny's general direction once; another time I recall she threw a lighter at him, another time a can of coke."

The case, at the High Court in London, continues.

Sport icon Clive 'upset and baffled' by ITV 'sacking'

BIG GAME NAME: Clive

ICONIC sports commentator Clive Tyldesley has revealed he is "upset and baffled" in an emotional video after being replaced in his lead role with ITV after 22 years in the job.

Clive's voice has been heard at major international tournaments and huge games in club football, including 17 Champions League finals.

ITV announced that Clive, 65, will be replaced by Sam Matterface, 42, from the start of the new season.

He appeared devastated by the decision as he posted a video reacting to the news.

Clive said: "If you haven't seen the announcement, I am being replaced as ITV's senior football commentator. Quite a few people have been in touch with me, asking me to react, to comment, um, I'm not sure that would be a very good idea at the moment.

"I was told about three weeks ago so I have had some time to get my head around the decision – but I haven't got my head around it.

"To be clear, this is ITV's decision, not mine. I'm upset, annoyed, baffled…I would have been interested in commentating on the Euro 2020 final for them less than 48 hours ago but now I won't be commentating on any of the big England games over the coming year and I'm going to miss them.

"I love this job, and it has gone. Why? I don't know. I don't know exactly why this decision has been taken. Already I've got the producer of a broadcast I am working on asking if I've got any health issues. No! I've got no health issues.

"Asking if it's something that I have done… no there's nothing. I've done nothing wrong."

ITV boss in defence of Kyle Show

GUESTS on The Jeremy Kyle Show gave "informed consent" and knew the nature of the programme they were appearing on, Dame Carolyn McCall, the head of ITV, claimed during furious exchanges with MPs.

Appearing before a Commons committee, Dame Carolyn defended the show she axed last year, following the death of a participant who had taken a lie detector test.

Accused by MP Julian Knight of broadcasting a "human freak show" exploiting vulnerable people, she said the programme had been "highly regulated" during its 15-year run.

Dame Carolyn said: "That particular show did polarise opinion, everyone on that show knew what the show was, it was informed consent.

"It was adults, they went through screening and vetting processes, they went through quite a lot of hoops before they went on.

"But it was conflict resolution – not always comfortable to view, yet people viewed it."

"When I went jogging in the morning there were cars with men having sex, there were parents with children around and also dog walkers."

Shock claim by Royal insiders

IS RANDY ANDY CALLING IN MAN CITY'S LAWYERS?

ON THE BALL: City's legal team could help prince

TROUBLED Royal Prince Andrew is reportedly considering hiring the Manchester City lawyers who got their two-year ban from European club competitions overturned.

The Court of Arbitration for Sport announced this week that City were cleared of "disguising equity funds as sponsorship contributions".

Uefa had issued the ban in February after ruling that the club had committed "serious breaches" of Financial Fair Play regulations between 2012 and 2016.

Their fine has been cut from £27m to £9m, and the ruling means City, who are guaranteed to finish second in the Premier League this season, will play in the 2020-21 Champions League.

A Royal insider said: "The Prince was very impressed with the way City's lawyers handled the case and wondered out loud if maybe they could help him.

"It wasn't clear if he was being entirely serious but I wouldn't be surprised if someone was already putting out feelers."

It comes as a poll showed more than half of Americans believe that the Duke of York should be extradited to answer questions about his relationship with Jeffrey Epstein, a poll shows.

As Ghislaine Maxwell, Epstein's ex-girlfriend, faced a court hearing in New York yesterday, the U.S. public strongly came out in support of calls to compel the Duke to talk to investigators.

LOVERS: Epstein and Maxwell

By COLIN HUNT
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Prince Andrew said last November that he had been introduced to Epstein by Ms Maxwell. Virginia Roberts Giuffre, 36, has claimed Epstein made her have sex with Andrew three times, once when she was 17.

The Duke has strongly denied the allegation and said that he does not recollect meeting her.

In delivering their ruling on Monday, CAS said City did "fail to cooperate with Uefa authorities" but reversed the decision by Uefa's club financial control body to ban them.

City said the decision was a "validation of the club's position and the body of evidence that it was able to present".

They added: "The club wishes to thank the panel members for their diligence and the due process that they administered."

Guns galore offer to couple riled by BLM protest

THE couple who went viral for brandishing a rifle and a handgun at Black Lives Matter protesters last month are getting offers of a free MACHINE GUN.

Lawyers Mark and Patricia McCloskey, who were caught on video outside their St. Louis, Missouri, mansion with guns as protesters marched past, have received at least 50 offers for a new AR-15 assault rifle since their weapons were seized by police.

A gun store in Missouri and 50 people "have contacted" the couple to replace the rifle Mark McCloskey, 61, brandished during the incident, but they're "kindly refusing" the would-be gifts, their attorney Joel Schwartz said.

"We will gladly rearm you with a brand new ar15 for (FREE)," Alien Armory Tactical in St. Charles wrote on Facebook.

Police took custody of the rifle and another attorney for the couple turned in the handgun Patricia McCloskey, 63, held during the protest.

A 14-YEAR-OLD boy was wanked off by a female teacher inside a car in what police have branded an "abhorrent" breach of trust.

The high school student was allegedly sexually assaulted multiple times – both on school grounds and off – over the past month.

The police's Child Abuse and Sex Crimes Squad began investigating the female teacher after receiving reports of the alleged assaults.

During a search of her home in Sydney Australia, officers seized electronic devices and a car, in which police say some of the alleged offences took place.

The teacher, who cannot be named for legal reasons, was taken to Bankstown Police Station, where charges are expected to be laid.

Child Abuse and Sex Crimes Squad Commander, Detective Acting Superintendent Michael Haddow, labelled the alleged crimes "abhorrent".

"The store owner advised the suspect that he did not have any money and threw a pizza at him, causing the suspect to flee," state police said.

The suspect got into a vehicle and drove off on Sussex Highway.

#HOT 'N' HORNY

Midweek Sport ALWAYS HOME OF TOPLESS BABES

STUNNING topless model Katie Marie gives Midweek Sport a peek at the lingerie she says gives blokes the RAGING HORN.

Katie, 26, from Feltham, west London, says stockings, suspenders and heels are her secret weapons to make a man go weak at the knees.

Mind you, we're sure it wouldn't take much for any hot-blooded man to have a stiff problem if he caught a glimpse of Katie and her 32E norks.

Corsets

She said: "I practically live in sexy lingerie, I'm always dancing around in little corsets and not much else.

"I don't know what it is about men, but they love a fit girl in stockings, suspenders and high heels. I use them all the time to make sure a man is in the mood.

"One look at me in that get-up is normally enough to give them the raging horn..."

HIGH SCHOOL MISS WAS 'MAD FOR TEEN COCK'

SEX VIDEOS SHOCKER: School where Verkamp (below) taught

By BRAD CHADWICK

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A HIGH school teacher arrested and charged for having sex with a 17-year-old student was "mad for teen cock", cops said.

Mollie Verkamp, 27, admitted to police that two years ago she slept with a student from a high school where she previously worked.

Cops had been investigating Verkamp for a year, opening up their probe to look into a separate claim that the ex-teacher sent sexually explicit videos to an 18-year-old student at Walton Verona High School in Kentucky, where she most recently taught.

Gushed

It was while probing those allegations that Verkamp allegedly told authorities she had also sent illicit messages to a 17-year-old student at her last job at Grant County High School.

Verkamp confessed to also having sex with the minor at her home, authorities said.

She also revealed she had "repeatedly" sucked the teen's rock-hard cock until he gushed his youthful SPUNK down her greedy throat.

Verkamp admitted she knew the age of the student and that being a teacher at the same high school made her a person in position of authority.

She was charged with rape and sodomy.

In a letter to parents, Walton-Verona schools Superintendent Matt Baker said the administration became aware of the alleged misconduct in May 2019 and reported it to the sheriff's office.

The district, he said, took appropriate actions to protect the safety and well-being of students.

Baker said that before hiring Verkamp, a criminal background check was conducted and the high school administration "received positive reviews from this individual's former employers".

A police source said: "Her pattern of offending seems to suggest that this suspect done gone mad for the teen cock."

Strippers hit by distancing rap

TWO strip joints have been shut down – for lack of social distancing.

Withdrawing their licences, authorities said: "Customers failed to observe social distancing guidelines and were in close proximity to each other and with adult performers."

Florida's Department of Business and Professional Regulation moved to shut down Le Palace Otown in Orlando and Show N Tail The Legend in Panama City Beach.

A dancer at one of the club said: "You try giving a lap dance and social distancing, it just ain't possible."

Florida has seen a recent upsurge in COVID cases since lockdown was eased.

BUILDER KIDNAP COP IS CHARGED

A POLICE sergeant kidnapped a builder then threatened to take the man "in the woods" in a dispute over his botched patio.

James Lloyd, 45, was arrested on kidnapping and extortion charges after the victim told how he was forced to go to a bank and refund the 21-year department veteran for the project.

Police said in a statement: "The victim stated he was in fear of being arrested and complied with Lloyd's demands."

The sergeant was unhappy with the patio after some stones had come apart and Lloyd's wife wanted it to be much larger, prompting the builder to ask for another £1,000.

When Lloyd (left), of Baltimore, demanded a full refund, the builder said he didn't want any problems, to which the officer allegedly said: "Problem would be if I take you in the woods," police said.

Sex workers demand the reopening of brothels

PROSTITUTES are demanding the right to get back to work as brothels remain closed due to the coronavirus pandemic.

Around 400 hookers and brothel operators from across Germany demonstrated in the red light district of Hamburg, Germany.

Prostitution is legal and regulated in Germany but the country's brothels have been closed for almost four months due to the outbreak.

Now, sex workers say they are being treated unfairly and demand the right to return to work, especially as other businesses where close contact is allowed – like hair salons and tattoo parlours – have since reopened.

The protest was organised by the Association of Sex Workers with the group warning the closure of licensed venues had forced some prostitutes onto the streets, putting them in danger both in terms of their health and personal safety.

Ahead of the protest the association posted a statement online, saying: "Prostitutes have met all government requirements, paid taxes, received little corona support, stand with their backs to the wall and are tired of the fact that politics is not taking action."

WITZELSUCHT is a condition that causes people to have an uncontrollable urge to make jokes

Hookers use see-thru sex macs on job

SEX workers in Bolivia have started wearing see-through RAINCOATS which they say will help them resume work safely.

The thigh-skimming "biosecurity suits" are among a number of recommendations in a coronavirus security manual drawn up by the Organisation of Night Workers of Bolivia.

They're pushing for a lift on day-time business restrictions put in place during lockdown, even if a strict night-time curfew still stops evening work.

While prostitution is legal in Bolivia, procuring it is not.

One sex worker said in addition to wearing a thong, a sequined eye-mask and a sheer, crotch-height dress for work, she could layer on top a paper face mask, plastic visor, gloves and a raincoat in order to work and still protect themselves.

ATTACK OF THE PLAGUE SQUIRRELS!

WARNING: Death is on the way

Panic as rodents test positive for the BLACK DEATH

IF 2020 hadn't already served up enough woe, now boffins have found SQUIRRELS carrying the BLACK DEATH!

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundaysport.co.uk

A squirrel has tested positive for the bubonic plague – the "bring out your dead" contagion that carried off a THIRD of Britain's population in the 14th century and resurfaced again in 1664, killing millions – in Colorado.

According to health officials, the squirrel is the first case of plague in the town of Morrison, Jefferson Co, southwest of Denver.

Public health officials wrote: "Plague is an infectious disease caused by the bacteria Yersinia pestis, and which can be contracted by humans and household animals."

However, if proper precautions are taken, the risk of getting plague is "extremely low," they added.

Fleas

Humans can be infected through bites from fleas or animals which are infected.

Officials said: "Cats are highly susceptible to plague and may die if not treated promptly with antibiotics.

"Cats can contract plague from flea bites, a rodent scratch/bite or ingestion of a rodent.

"Dogs are not as susceptible to plague, but they may pick up and carry plague-infected rodent fleas."

The public health department advised pet owners to consult a vet if they suspect their pet is ill.

Also, pet owners living near wildlife habitats – such as prairie dog colonies – should ask their veterinarian about flea control.

Symptoms of plague can include high fever, chills, headache and nausea, among other signs, occurring within a week of exposure.

However, plague can be successfully treated with antibiotics upon early diagnosis.

Anyone experiencing these symptoms has been advised to consult a plague doctor and paint a red cross on their front door.

The adult actress caught some rays as she lay by the pool with a book, a glass of white wine and some melon.

And to the delight of her three-million fans, she shared a very cheeky picture of herself on Instagram.

Riley captioned the near-naked snap taken at her home in Florida: "I'm 29 today – does this mean I'm a MILF?"

The post racked up 727,000 likes and hundreds of comments from well-wishers.

One fan said: "Lovely arse. It'd look even better with a throbbing great cock stuck up it!"

Drivers duck for cover

MORE than 60 ducks stranded on the UK's busiest motorway were rescued when an intrepid RSPCA officer sprinted between cars to catch them.

RSPCA collection officer Kate Wright was called to the scene – close to junction 18 of the M25 near Watford – on Sunday, and was amazed by what she saw.

She said: "The Highways Agency called us and asked for our help. I expected to arrive to find a mother duck and a brood of ducklings – but when I got to the scene there were DOZENS of ducks everywhere!

"The highways officers and Hertfordshire Police closed the road so we could round the ducks up and corral them into carriers.

"We were able to round up around 60 of them."

BIG Brother babe Sallie Axl knows how to keep at the forefront of our minds.

The tattooed vixen entered the camera-filled house in 2013 alongside Rylan Clark-Neal's now-husband Dan Neal.

Unfortunately for the starlet, she only lasted just over a week before becoming the first housemate to be evicted.

Now she's in the headlines again for, er, washing her car.

Taking to Instagram, Sallie uploaded a jaw-dropping clip of herself washing a motor.

The blonde babe slipped into a skimpy blue thong and tiny white crop-top.

With soapy water dripping down over her full arse, the inked-up gal sent imaginations into overdrive as she got to work.

She captioned the video: "Who wants to come to my car wash?"

In fact, Sallie isn't running a car wash – but it's reminded us that after weeks of being underused and parked up, our motors need a good scrub as Britain gets back to work.

So, as a public service, here's a few pages of babes washing their cars to inspire you to pick up the sponge and soapy water...

Many of us would feel ripped off after buying a dud second-hand car. But not as much as Louis Mitchell, who was so furious at the perceived injustice, he decided to take revenge by embarking on a terrifying slaughter spree...

DRIVEN TO KILL

TWISTED: Mitchell grins as he's handed the death penalty

GANG-BANGER: Mitchell was high on drugs when he killed over a Dodge Durango (left)

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THERE was so much bloodshed – and it was all sparked by something as trivial as a pick-up truck.

Back in August 2005, Mike Hernandez was general manager at California Auto Specialists, a used car dealership in the Los Angeles suburb of Colton.

Mike was accustomed to the occasional cross word from customers and tempers sometimes flared, but there was never anything that couldn't be sorted out.

Mike says: "We might have the odd mild argument but that's it. Nothing even close to physical violence has ever happened here."

That all changed, however, when Louis Mitchell stepped onto his forecourt.

Earlier in the day, Mitchell and his girlfriend Dorene Small had been shopping for a new car to cope with their expanding family – Dorene was a mother of four while Mitchell had three children from a previous relationship.

They'd stopped at California Auto Specialists and looked at a Dodge Durango before leaving.

Options

After discussing their options, Dorene had returned later that day to seal the deal. However, the Dodge had a fault – it managed to break down before Dorene had even got it home.

Upon hearing the news, Mitchell flew into an unholy rage. He marched back to the dealership, pulled out a gun and began shooting.

Employee Patrick Mawikere, 20, died in a hail of bullets.

Salesman Mario Lopez, 59, needed emergency surgery for horrific gunshot wounds. He died hours later.

Another two employees – Juan Bizzotto and Jerry Payan – were badly wounded but somehow escaped with their lives after jumping through a glass window.

Mitchell, though, wasn't done yet.

He targeted another dealership worker – Armando Torres – at a nearby apartment complex, unleashing round after round from his gun, badly wounding Armando and killing his 16-year-old brother, Susano.

TRAGEDY: Shocked colleauges at scene of shooting

Mitchell was arrested the following day, having threatened three other people with his gun.

He was eventually shot in the leg by police and apprehended. As the officer approached him, Mitchell had screamed: "Come on, you're a cop – you're supposed to kill me!"

If that was a sign Mitchell wanted to die, he got his wish in May 2006 when he was handed a death penalty.

Everyone involved in the case lamented a culture where such small personal sleights could result in such horror.

Survivors and close friends Juan Bizzotto and Jerry Payan were left deeply traumatised by the events of that tragic day after watching their colleagues die.

But the pair remain determined to live their lives to the full as a way of holding up two fingers to the man who tried to end it all for them.

Silence

Jerry said: "The best I can do is just talk to Juan all the time. We're going to stay close to each other. He lives down the street from me. We're going to pull through this somehow.

"This is the end for Mitchell – but it's not the end for us."

In cases such as these you see outpourings of grief from the families of the victims.

In this case, however, reporters investigating the killings were often met with a wall of silence.

And there was a very good reason for that – Mitchell was a certified gang member and those who spoke out feared recriminations.

Of course, Mitchell was no stranger to the police. He'd only been out of prison for two years, having done a stretch for peddling cocaine.

He was also prolific user of a drug called PCP, which left him prone to violent rages.

True to form, on that fateful day he'd been high on drugs – a fact that his defence lawyers later used to try to mitigate the severity of his sentence.

Mitchell and Dorene were in the market for a car after she'd received a cash settlement from her insurance firm having been in an accident.

Court records reveal: "After Small picked up the settlement cheque from her insurance company, she and Mitchell went to California Auto Specialist (CAS) to shop to buy a replacement vehicle.

"At first, they were helped by salesman Juan Bizzotto. Because he couldn't speak English well, he referred them to colleague, Mario Lopez.

"Lopez helped them complete paperwork to purchase a used Dodge Durango truck."

Mitchell then left, leaving Small to finalise the purchase.

Repairs

The court files reveal: "Small told Lopez she needed to cash a cheque at a bank in order to make the downpayment.

"Lopez agreed to allow her to drive the Durango to the bank and Bizzotto followed.

"On the way back to the dealership, the Durango broke down and could not be restarted. They left it on the side of the road for repairs and Bizzotto drove Small back to the dealership."

Dorene wasn't too fazed by the breakdown. The dealership promised to get it fixed so Dorene went ahead with the purchase anyway.

But when she got home and told Mitchell what had happened, all hell broke loose.

Mitchell felt he'd been "screwed over".

The files continue: "Between 2.15pm and 2.30pm on August 8, 2005, Payan, Lopez, and Patrick Mawikere were gathered at Payan's desk facing the window overlooking the car lot.

"They saw Mitchell return to the dealership. Bizzotto, who was on his phone talking with his wife at the time, also noticed Mitchell. There were no customers in the dealership at the time.

"Payan and Bizzotto both testified that they saw Lopez meet Mitchell at the entrance of the dealership.

"Although Payan wasn't alarmed by Mitchell's behaviour, Bizzotto testified that Mitchell was excited and angry, in contrast to his behaviour earlier that day.

"Payan then saw Mitchell pull a gun out of his pants pocket and shoot Lopez.

"Payan testified that Mitchell was looking at Payan when he shot Lopez."

When Jerry Payan heard a second shot, he ran to the window, looking to escape. He promptly jumped right through the glass, taking a bullet to the arm while doing so.

Crouching between two cars, he heard another series of gunshots coming from inside.

As Jerry made his escape, Mitchell turned on Patrick Mawikere.

Shooting

Police files state: "When Mawikere tried to intervene, Bizzotto saw Mitchell point his gun at him.

"Mawikere asked Mitchell not to shoot him. Mitchell shot him in the head, then turned toward Bizzotto.

"He attempted to hide underneath his desk and Mitchell started shooting at him.

"Bizzotto was shot in the right arm and the right thigh. Mitchell fired another seven times at Bizzotto, causing him to suffer shrapnel wounds to his left leg."

Bizzotto somehow managed to summon the police through a 911 call while Mario Lopez clung to life. Having been shot twice in the stomach, he later succumbed to his injuries.

Meanwhile, police identified Mitchell as the shooter. They went looking for him at the Yellows apartment complex.

By this point Mitchell had already pulled a gun on Armando Torres, hitting him in the leg as a woman managed to pull him inside her apartment and call 911.

When Susano Torres went to see what was happening he, too, ran into Mitchell.

Mitchell pulled the trigger, sending a bullet straight through both of Susano's lungs.

He died in agony a short time later from internal bleeding.

When Mitchell was eventually tracked down, he'd approached a weapon-wielding officer, screaming: "My gun is bigger than yours! Fk it, I'll just take your gun," before being shot in the leg himself.

In the end, Mitchell received life for the shootings of Bizzotto and Payan and the death sentence for the three murders.

Salvador Munguia, a salesman at the CAS car dealership, said: "As a society, we're losing the value of life."

All the lives lost, meanwhile, were deeply mourned.

Concerned

Patrick Mawikere was described as a rising star with a knack for matching customers with the right vehicle.

His friend, Chris Carroll, said: "He was much more concerned with what a purchase would mean to your life than being someone who was only concerned with selling you a car and pocketing your money. He was a good guy."

Mario Lopez's family also grieved.

One relative told the press: "Mario was the father of four children. He was a good man.

"Some people never learned how to cope with the negative things in their lives. The result is devastating sometimes to the innocent."

That's something for Mitchell, now 50, to think about as he awaits his walk to the death chamber.

PERVERT CHEMIST DRUGGED WOMAN FOR SEX

HORROR 'CURE': Stein

TELLER COUNTY
SHERIFF'S OFFICE

A PERVERTED pharmacist lured a woman to his home with the promise of treatment for an ailment – but instead plied her with drugs and sexually assaulted her.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Brent Stein, 46, was on probation after a 2019 conviction for a domestic violence incident when he met the woman on dating site eHarmony.

Stein who owns Mountain Key Pharmacy in Florissant, Colorado, told the woman – who lives in Indiana – he wanted to "court her".

But she told him she was not interested in a sexual relationship at the time, although she flew to Colorado Springs two days later.

Kissing

Stein promised the woman he could cure her of a condition similar to one that had claimed the life of his late wife.

"During the first night of the victim's stay (in Stein's home), the victim engaged in consensual kissing with the suspect but told the suspect she did not want to have sex with him," according to the arrest affidavit.

The woman said Stein gave her an array of medications – including injecting a liquid into her nose from a large syringe – before sexually assaulting her while she was incapacitated.

She said he put tablets into her mouth that made her feel very lethargic and unable to move her arms and legs.

At first, the woman forgave him as she considered the "forced sex" to be the result of him being "lonely and horny," according to the affidavit.

But severe side effects led to her eventually going to hospital.

"The victim had difficulty recalling the amount of times (she) was sexually assaulted in the incapacitated state but estimates it to be at least seven times," the affidavit said.

Stein is charged with sexual assault.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Sort your sh*t out, Boris!

PLAYING THE FOOL? PM is causing chaos over masks

JUST when you thought it was slightly safer to step outside your front door, along comes Captain Chaos again.

This week, Boris has decided that we really, really ought to wear masks in public in order to prevent any further spread of this coronavirus thing.

That will be the coronavirus thing that has been killing British people in their tens of thousands since February and saw us all enter into an unprecedented national lockdown a month later.

But it wasn't quite a lockdown, was it?

I live about 50 yards from my nearest Co-op. Home Bargains is across the road.

And let's be honest – we all need milk, bread and cheap noodles, don't we?

Both stores have remained open throughout the non-lockdown. So has the local Sainsbury's.

In all of them – and this is no slur on the really bloody hard-working staff – only a few wore a mask.

Sure, there were one-in one-out rules and distance measures on the floor, but that didn't make a gnat's chuff of a difference.

The oldies still barged past to get to the orange stickers.

Kids still picked up and put back just about everything.

And since March, while not being allowed to purchase a pint and drink it in the company of our friends, we have nevertheless been allowed to gather en masse in the supermarkets to buy much cheaper grog so we can drink ourselves blind at home – and without the bother of a barman telling us we'd had enough.

For months we've been pretending to operate in "lockdown" – when there simply was no such thing.

And the usual suspects have had a field day.

With what the Americans charmlessly call the "authorities" paralysed by political correctness, any old mob could gather at will and cause chaos without fear of serious retribution.

Want to pull down a statue? Go ahead. Deface the statue of the man who led the fight to give the twat with the spray can the opportunity to vandalise it without being shot in the head? Bingo.

But go to church? Bible-bashing heathen.

Pub? Thirsty, dirty addict.

Still, though, the vast majority of Brits who aren't complete, tie-dyed twats pretty much went along with it.

And when the creaking doors of The Dog and Duck were finally wrenched open once more, nobody celebrated it more than me – or the other me that looked back at me in the mirror after closing time.

Now, though, after all that, Boris wants us to wear masks in public, even though his team member Michael Gove reckons it should be up to the individual.

Madness

Why Boris himself is now wearing one is anyone's guess, too, as he's famously recovered from Covid-19 and should be antibodied up to the eyeballs.

On Monday, Home Secretary Priti Patel (above) was photographed wearing a mask going to a meeting – only, once inside the meeting, to be again photographed without one.

This, Prime Minister, after months of pretend lockdown that never once mentioned masks outside of hospitals and care homes, is complete fking madness.

Sort your shit out. It's not part of the job description – it IS the job description.

Prof nicked for naked girl chases

A BOFFIN has been arrested for running after a woman while STARK NAKED.

University professor and part-time tattooist Eduardo Rodríguez (above) has allegedly sexually harassed at least 100 women, according to police.

Officers had been searching for the 34-year-old, who was caught on CCTV approaching a woman in the Azcapotzalco neighbourhood of Claveria, Mexico, in broad daylight.

Completely naked, Rodríguez shockingly recorded himself as he stepped out of his car and made contact with the female.

The terrified victim is pictured running from the scene.

He also appeared in a video from 2018, in which he's seen chasing after an 18-year-old girl, who was walking to her university in San Alvaro.

A judge released Rodríguez and ordered him to appear before the court every week while city prosecutors formed a case.

Woman bailed over sex with two teen lads

PROSECUTORS have charged a woman after she was spit-roasted by two teenage boys.

Court records show Amy Hargrove is charged with eight child sex crimes and one count of giving alcohol to minors.

Police in Catoosa, Oklahoma, arrested Hargrove and she was booked into the Rogers County Jail.

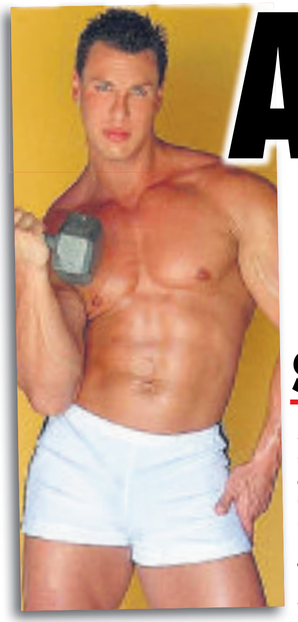
The arrest warrant showed that Hargrove inappropriately touched two 14-year-old boys several different times at a house in Catoosa.

The warrant said she also forced the boys to inappropriately touch her.

The encounter ended with "one victim having vaginal sex with the suspect while she also performed fellatio on the other victim".

Hargrove has been released on bail.

PISS-DRINKING S&M PRIEST FOUND DEAD AT HIS HOME



Padre stole £1million from church for kinky sessions with 'master'

DOUBLE LIFE: Rev Miqueli was sex slave to bodybuilder Keith Crist (left)

A DEFROCKED priest accused of embezzling £1million from his congregations for lurid encounters with his own "Sex Master" has been found dead.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Rev Peter Miqueli, 57, was accused of living a sordid double life as the urine-drinking sex slave of a musclebound S&M master, Keith Crist.

The priest was thought to have paid out £1m to bodybuilder Crist in exchange for more than 1,000 sexual interludes, allegedly funded by embezzling from church coffers.

The priest was also alleged to have spent £60,000 on "illicit prescriptions", according to a lawsuit filed by his parishioners.

The Archdiocese of New York said at the time of the lawsuit that the allegations against Miqueli could not be substantiated.

An investigation by authorities did conclude he had taken more than $22,000 collected from congregants.

Whips

Miqueli also had begged to have a threesome with his girlfriend at the time.

Tatyana Gudin said the priest was trying to lure her into his erotic fantasies.

She claimed Miqueli and Crist, who is in his 40s, used whips, chains and chastity belts in drug-fuelled romps – which culminated in the bodybuilder urinating in the priest's mouth while he was still dressed in his dog collar.

Gudin had previously claimed that Miqueli focused his attentions on her in the hope of fulfilling a "sick fantasy of defiling a pretty Jewish girl".

Gudin alerted New York Cardinal Timothy Dolan at the time, but said nothing changed.

She wrote: "Keith Crist uses Father Miqueli as his toilet, and Father Miqueli drinks his p during their weekly, 3 day get-togethers when they take off to Father Miquelis [sic] house in Brick, NJ, far away from prying eyes.

"Miqueli loved to enjoy $300 bottles of Scotch. All on a priest's $2,474-a-month salary."

She wrote that Miqueli had fired the St Frances thrift-shop staff in order to put Crist in charge.

He made it a thriving business, but "only reported £50,000 a year".

She added: "To add insult to injury, to cover his embezzling activities, Miqueli would every so often fire whoever was the right-hand employee in the thrift shop, by accusing them of... theft!"

Pauline's gone all see-phew!

PERT Pauline Tantot gave fans a real treat when she posed in a see-through T-shirt.

The 25-year-old French fancy (left) celebrated her nation's national day by pouring the contents of a water bottle over her white top, revealing her superb, firm breasts.

The beauty was snapped while sitting on some stone steps at her country home where she's been in lockdown with sister Mathilde.

A fan said: "I would use her shit as shaving foam, so help me!"

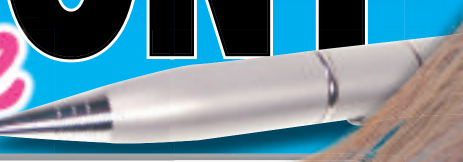
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Tess,

I'VE been dating my girlfriend for a few months, but I fancy her best mate like mad and it's driving me nuts.

I think she feels the same way as me, because when my girlfriend's not looking she flashes her boobs and winks at me.

She's even been known to give my dick a sly stroke through my trousers, giving me a massive and embarrassing boner.

The other day she went even further when she came round for a few drinks in the garden.

She deliberately parted her thighs and flashed me her bare, shaved minge.

But I'm too scared to do anything about it at the moment, even though I'd love to shag her brains out.

Should I give her one?

TP, Cumbria

Tess says…

GIVE her a quick one and get it out of your system.

Dear Tess,

EVER since I can remember, the thought of rubber against my skin has me tingling in the nether regions.

It began when I was a kid, when I found a swimming cap that had been left in the changing room at my local pool.

I loved the feel of it, so I took it home with me. Over the years I have put together a big collection of them and I rub myself off on them all the time.

But now my obsession with rubber has landed me in trouble. I told a girlfriend, who freaked out and whipped me in the face with a floral number I was trying to get her to wear when I shagged her.

Now I'm all confused. Am I a twisted pervert or what?

DM, Somerset

Tess says…

NO. But try a fetish website for friends.

No holes barred for my sex beast missus

Dear Tess,

I'VE been with my missus for 14 years and, as you can imagine, the sex was getting pretty boring.

But then suddenly three months ago she turned into a right little raver.

She now likes doing it in all kinds of positions and all kinds of places.

And she even asked me to shag her up the bum, which has always been an absolute no-no up until now.

Well, I was totally up for it and I shagged her doggy-style first before I started teasing her arsehole with my cock.

But as I was about to plunge my manhood up her butt, she suddenly told me to stop and said that she wanted me to use a dildo on her.

I was a bit put out as I didn't happen to have a vibro to hand and I was amazed when she reached out to the bedside drawer and pulled out a dong about 10 inches long.

She oiled it and told me to stick it up her pussy as I shagged her arse.

But I'm gobsmacked at the change that's come over her.

Do you think we should get counselling?

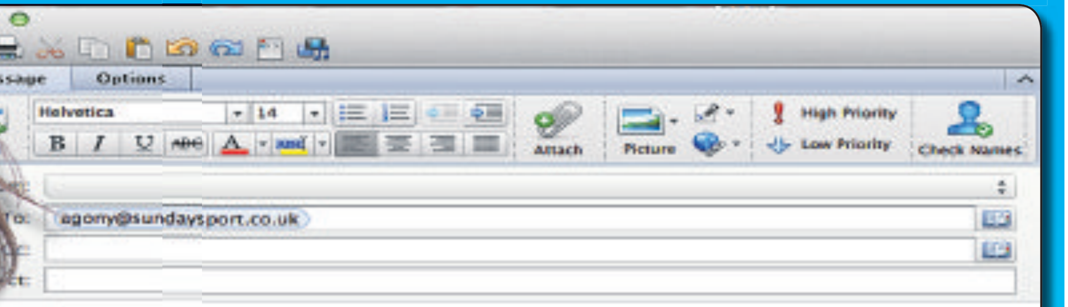
DA, Lincolnshire

Tess says…

ARE you serious? Get stuck in and enjoy it.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week TESS O'REILLY has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you…



Older boss takes me to shag pad for romps

Dear Tess,

I'M 22, attractive with long blonde hair and a great body.

But I find fellas my own age are very immature and they have no staying power in the bedroom.

I recently got a new job at an insurance company. My boss is 42 and a real hunk for an older man.

Then I caught my fella shagging a so-called friend of mine and was a bit upset at work the next day.

My gaffer asked me into his office and asked me what was wrong.

I explained my situation and then he put his arm around my waist and kissed me tenderly.

Licking

I was getting really wet and very hot, so I blurted out how much I fancied him.

He said when we'd finished work that day he could take me back to a "shag" flat he has in town, if I was up for it.

I was well up for it – and thought it would be great to get my own back on my cheating ex and that slag of his.

So we arranged to meet later, round the corner from work, where he picked me up in his flashy BMW car and whisked me off to his passion pad.

As soon as we got through the door, he dropped to his knees and started licking my fanny.

I then begged him to take me from behind – I was so wet for him I could hardly contain myself!

He was huge and screwed me senseless for ages until he finally shot his load all over my bum.

I then sucked him back to hardness and sat on it with my back to him and rode him with all the strength I had.

He's fked me every day since and our love-making is amazing.

Now he says he's divorcing his wife. He wants me to move into his flat with him and stop working at the office, but I want to keep my job.

Any advice?

JL, Tyneside

Tess says…

TELL him you want to be independent.

Dear Tess,

MY missus insists that I only fk her up the arse, which I know is most fellas' dream come true. But for me it's getting a little boring.

We start off our love-making with her giving me a slow and gentle blowjob, before she hops up on to all fours and sticks her gorgeous bum in the air.

But whenever I try to pot the pink, she says vaginal sex doesn't give her any pleasure – so I have to slip it up the brown.

What should I do?

MS, Wiltshire

Tess says…

STOP moaning.

This nympho wants gr-eight gang bang

Dear Tess,

I THINK I have become addicted to sex. I'm a blonde 32-year-old barmaid with 34DD tits and I get loads of attention.

I've had lots of fellas over the years and I'm game for all manner of sex.

But I recently had my first shag with two blokes – and I'm convinced that's turned me into a nympho.

Since then, I've found myself wanting more and more thrills with groups of fellas.

Last week I went with six blokes who had been at a reunion in the pub. I invited them back to my place and it wasn't long before I was stripped naked and lying on my bed.

Dribbling

I was determined to satisfy all six at the same time and I had a dick in my arse, one in my fanny and two in my mouth while I wanked the other two off.

It was fantastic watching them all explode together. I swallowed loads of cum and I could also feel spunk dribbling down my thighs.

But that's still not enough for me. This weekend I'm meeting these blokes again and two more of their mates.

Do you think my behaviour is OK, or does the fact that I'm about to have it off with eight men mean I'm abnormal?

TD, east Midlands

Tess says…

EIGHT does sound excessive, so take precautions.

Dear Tess,

WHEN I first started going out with my girlfriend, everything was great.

She's half Spanish, so is quite dark-skinned with lovely eyes.

The sex was great and before long she moved in with me.

She loved giving me a blowjob every night when I got home from work and she really liked doing it doggy style.

Everything was going fine until she had to go back home to Spain for a few months.

When she finally came back, my plums were aching for some attention.

But when I stripped her off for action, I noticed she was a little bit more hairy than usual – she'd clearly decided to foresake her usual body grooming regime back in Spain.

She's now got a full-on moustache, her armpits are like a rug, her bikini line seems to stretch from her fanny to her neck, and the hair on her legs is so long she could plait it.

Although we were both gagging for it, I couldn't muster a hard-on looking at my latino lover – who now looks more like Chewbacca from the Star Wars films!

How can I raise the subject with her without offending her?

CG, Kent

Tess says…

TELL her to get a shave. If she won't, it should be hair today, gonna tomorrow.

#MY SEX FANTASY

‘I see him shagging another woman and I come like crazy!’

MY wildest fantasy is to go swinging with my boyfriend.

I remember watching a show where two married characters went to a swingers party.

I knew then it was something I wanted try at least once in my life!

In my fantasy, my fella tells me to get dressed up and that he’s taking me out, but he won’t tell me where we’re going.

Strangers

He drives me to a house I’ve never seen before and there are a bunch of other couples there, all strangers.

My boyfriend walks in and casually drops his watch into a bowl on the coffee table (the same way it happened in the show I saw). The couple in the show chicken out, but me and my fella don’t.

In my fantasy I have different men approach me, and one very hot guy comes up to me as I leave the bathroom and kisses me, stroking my nipples.

It’s naughty because it’s breaking the rules!

Then the same hot guy pulls out my man’s watch which means he gets to fk me. I go off to a bedroom with him and he’s very hard and horny and devours me, licking my pussy wildly and thrusting his dick into me good and hard.

I can hear my boyfriend close to climaxing in the room opposite and look over and the door is ajar.

I see him giving it to another woman hard doggy-style and it makes me cum like crazy!

#HOT’N’HORNY

GORGEOUS Lucy Ly didn’t need much persuading to strip off with this muscle car on the front drive at Sport Towers…

Because she gets her kicks by being naked OUTDOORS.

The busty brunette admits nothing turns her on quite like stripping down in public.

And the 34D stunna said: “There’s something about the thought of getting caught with my tits out that really turns me on.

“Whenever I find myself in the countryside or even in the park near my house I start getting wet.

“The only thing I’m missing is a bloke to keep me company.”

Lucy said she’s only ever bonked under open skies ONCE, but she’s gagging to try it again.

She added: “Me and an ex did it in a field while on holiday in the Lakes.

“It was dead sexy but I haven’t done it since. It’s definitely on my list to try again.”

Lucy, 26, who’s originally from Germany, also likes anal.

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

hannah RENTICE

HEAVENLY Hannah Prentice got her big paddling pool out at the weekend and she had a splashing old time in it!

The beauty filled the pool and invited a few pals round to get nice and wet with her.

But don't get thinking that Hannah's only into such innocent pursuits – as she's got a very NAUGHTY side, too.

And she can prove it by showing you the TATTOO on her MINGE!

The stunna, 25, paid for a heart on her most intimate area a couple of years ago.

Hannah, a 32dd from Romford, Essex, said she got the body art drawn after an all-night boozy bender on a girls' holiday in the wild resort of Magaluf.

She said: "I don't regret it. I'm always doing crazy stuff when I'm a bit tipsy!"

HOT SHOT: Raul Jimenez

Raul ready to shoot Wolves into big time

WOLVES are ready to roar into Europe says hitman Raul Jimenez.

The Portuguese striker knocked in his 25th goal of the season as Everton were brushed aside at the weekend.

Wolves are one of the teams worst affected by Manchester City's Champions League ban being overturned.

They headed into the week in sixth place, four points behind stuttering Leicester who sit in the final Champions League berth.

Wolves have been on the go since July thanks to their involvement in the Europa League which continues as they sit 1-1 in their last-16 tie against Olympiakos.

STRUGGLE: Rodgers

Jimenez insists that his team-mates won't run out of petrol in the remaining games as they go after a top-four finish.

He said: "We've been playing a lot of games this season.

Fight

"We are the Premier League team who has played the most games this season, but we are going in our best form again.

"It's difficult because we have a very difficult schedule now, but I know that everyone is in their best form, we bounced back and we here we are.

"We have to keep going, keep doing the same things that we did today, because those are the things that bring us here to fight for the Europa positions.

"That what we have in mind, so we have to keep going like this."

TOP FORM: Boss Santo

Leicester are the team looking most likely to miss out having been in the top four all season.

Boss Brendan Rodgers is calling on his players to step up after winning just one of six games since football restarted.

He said: "It's not a happy changing room and it shouldn't be, because that is not acceptable, to deliver that level, especially when you work so well.

"The Sheffield United game on Thursday will be a great challenge for us because we need to show a greater level of physicality and mentality. That'll be a really good test.

"We had a great result at Bramall Lane earlier in the season and now this is a game where we've really got to show our mettle and look to get working again."

The Foxes need a win as their final two games are away at Spurs and then a potential blockbuster at home to Manchester United.

CHAMPIONS CHALLENGE: Lampard wants a top-four finish

CHELSEA GAFFER STILL UP FOUR IT

Lampard confident of Champions League spot

FRANK Lampard insists he's still confident of making the Champions League — despite City's ban being overturned.

Pep Guardiola's lads were initially kicked out of Europe's top competition for two years only for that decision to be reversed on appeal.

It means that the top four will now make it into next season's competition rather than the qualifying spots going down to fifth.

Things are getting very tight at the top with it looking like one of Chelsea, Leicester or Manchester United will miss out.

But Lampard is confident it won't be the Bridge boys that drop into the dreaded Europa League. He said:

By PAUL THOMAS

"We're sitting third so it's in our hands.

"I wouldn't like the players to have been thinking 'oh there's an extra place does that mean we can relax a bit more', it can't be the way.

"So I think the pressure's there to get into the Champions League.

"It's just clear now of what the positions are. And we have to fight for it.

"I genuinely don't see beyond the games in hand.

"We've got a few games now we know that. We want to win them and then see if it gets us European Champions League football for next season.

"I was never pinning my hopes on it being an extra team getting in or not, we worry about ourselves.

"If we win enough games now we can get into the Champions League qualification."

Lampard has been splashing the cash with Ajax's Hakim Ziyech and RB Leipzig forward Timo Werner already signed.

It looks like a couple more could be heading to west London with Kai Havertz looking close to a transfer.

Lampard hopes that gives his current squad a kick up the backside but insists that they are not fighting for their futures at the Bridge.

He added: "In terms of fighting for their careers, no, I want the players just to fight to be a Chelsea player and win the game that's in hand. So we don't jump ahead, and nobody should.

"The next game ahead is the only one that matters at the minute. We're at a critical stage of the season.

"We know what's in front of us, we know we have the capabilities in the squad and the team because we've shown this season at lots of different points, that's what's got us into third position and now we need to finish the job."

"We have brought a couple of players into the club already which shows positivity about where we want to go.

"I know where I want to go with the squad, but that has to be a fluid conversation with the club. Of course, economics will come into it, so we will cross that bridge when it comes."

CHARLIE McCANN

WITH ALL HIS BEST SPORTING BETS

Gunners can end Reds ton dreams

TOP GUNNERS: Aubameyang and Xhaka

THE visit of Liverpool to the Emirates is the big game this evening with the Reds needing to win their last three to break Man City's Premier League points record after their 1-1 draw with Burnley.

I watched their game against the Clarets and was disappointed to see the reaction of ndy Robertson at the end when he hurdled a volley of abuse at referee David Coote.

The Reds are worthy champions, but they are not above the law and should remember they had the rub of the green for much of the season with VAR.

Arsenal were good in parts against Spurs on Sunday but their defensive failings reared their ugly head in a fiercely competitive local derby which, as expected, saw plenty of action for referee Michael Oliver who I thought was excellent.

The Gunners are 3/1 at Unibet to get back to winning ways with Liverpool 10/11 and the draw at 3s. I do not think the Reds will find it easy as there is a new-found aggression and pace in the host's ranks.

Mikel Arteta was an integral cog in the City staff who led the side to 100 points in 2018 and I feel he will have his players – many of whom are playing for their long-term futures at the club – fired up for the game.

The Gunners deserved a draw at Spurs, and can pick up a point against Jurgen Klopp's side who have played well enough since lockdown, but their boorish behaviour is a concern.

Tips, News and Betting Offers

I am interested to see which Spurs side turn up at St James's Park. After their poor performance against Bournemouth and, to a lesser extent, Everton Jose Mourinho's side were exciting in parts against Arsenal although they were outplayed for large periods.

Newcastle have lost their last couple of league games on the road, but I feel they will give Spurs a thorough examination.

The Magpies have scored 10 times in their four home league games since the restart and have drawn eight times at St James's Park already this term. Steve Bruce's side are 11/10 in the double chance market – win or draw – with Unibet and that is the tip.

Aston Villa are still 1/6 to be related at Boylesports despite their 2-0 win over Crystal Palace the weekend. They travel to Goodison Park tomorrow to meet an Everton side who are quite appalling on the road but are unbeaten at home under Carlo Ancelotti.

The enormity of the task facing the Italian at Everton is suddenly dawning on the London media although I have been banging on for years as to what a slow, dull squad they have.

Jordan Pickford will surely be no better than third choice England keeper when Gareth Southgate picks his next Three Lions squad and he is one of several players who he will be trying to move on this summer.

That said I feel Everton at Evens are getting to a price that they can be backed at especially if Mason Holgate passes a late test.

If Everton can beat Leicester and get a draw with Liverpool and Southampton since lockdown then they should have too much for a Villa side who must, arguably, win if they are to give themselves a realistic chance of surviving the drop.

The Blues are 21/20 at Betfair with Villa and the draw at 11/4.

With Yerry Mina injured again at Wolves on Sunday – what a disappointment he has been – the return of Holgate is essential for Ancelotti's side who will be smarting after their Molineux humiliation.

BROAD'S IN A STU OVER HIS TEST SPOT

CRICKET

STUART Broad faces an anxious wait to discover his fate ahead of England's second Test against the West Indies.

The seamer has made no secret of his anger at being left out of the opening game at the Ageas Bowl. And it wasn't the greatest decision as the Three Lions failed to bowl out the tourists who won on the final day.

Broad is second only to James Anderson with 485 Test wickets but he seems to have fallen behind Mark Wood and Jofra Archer in the pecking order.

And England coach Chris Silverwood is giving no guarantees that the Nottinghamshire bowler will be back on international duty any time soon.

He said: "Nothing is a given in this team, as we have seen, and people will be playing for their spots. Everything will be considered.

"We have one or two stiff bodies, as you can imagine.

"We will put them through their paces and see where they are at."

Stand-in skipper Ben Stokes was making more positive noises about Broad's return.

He was pleased that the seamer said he was fuming about being dropped.

Stokes said: "I'd actually be very worried if he didn't show that passion towards not being selected.

"Someone who's played that many Test matches and got that many wickets – to still see that desire and emotion is fantastic as a senior player in this team."

There is one change guaranteed for Old Trafford tomorrow as Joe Root returns to skipper the side following the birth of his second child.

The selectors have a choice to make but it looks as though Joe Denly will be the batsman making way.

NEEDS RUNS: Denly

The 34-year-old made 18 and 29 in the first game and has yet to score a Test on.

Former England skipper Michael Vaughan said: "You could argue that Denly was very lucky to have played 15 Test matches.

"There are a lot of players who have played only eight Tests and got hundreds.

"England have a decision to make on Denly.

"Zak Crawley surely has to stay in the side."

LAMPARD HAS LUKA

Chelsea keen on £40m Real Madrid hitman

By JOHN ANTHONY

CHELSEA will turn to Real Madrid striker Luka Jovic if they fail to get Kai Havertz.

Blues boss Frank Lampard is making up for lost time in the transfer market and wants more firepower up front.

He has already bagged Timo Werner from Red Bull Leipzig and has made another striker one of his top priorities when the transfer window opens.

Reports in Spain suggest Jovic could be the ideal man.

The 22-year-old has failed to make an impact for Real since moving from Eintract Frankfurt last summer.

The Spanish giants are willing to take a major hit on the £55m they paid to the Germans and would accept around £40m.

That could be a lot less than Havertz with a bidding war breaking out for the Bayer Leverkusen striker.

His fee is rapidly heading towards the £80m mark and Lampard has other players to sign too.

Chelsea are locked in a battle with Manchester United for Leicester and England full-back Ben Chilwell.

Lamps has long wanted more quality at the back and is desperate to get the deal done.

But United are thought to be winning the race and could offer Luke Shaw plus cash so the Foxes have a ready-made replacement for Chilwell.
